

James A. Pepicello, MD, FACS

Advisor to the President for Clinical Quality

James A. Pepicello, M.D. is advisor to the president for clinical quality at Hamot Health Foundation. Dr. Pepicello was also chief medical officer and executive vice president and chief operating officer at Hamot Medical Center. Dr. Pepicello joined the Department of Surgery at Hamot in 1978 and served as chairman of the department from 1985 to 1993. He began his administrative career at Hamot in 1993 and served as senior vice president for clinical operations and physician development until 1996. He then joined the healthcare consulting company, E.C. Murphy, Ltd., where he served as executive vice president and Chief Operating Officer. His responsibilities at E.C. Murphy included oversight of the National Healthcare Restructuring Practice as well as the production and research operations of the company.

Dr. Pepicello has extensive experience in clinical surgery, hospital operations and medical administration. He received his undergraduate education at Gannon University and his medical degree from the Hahnemann University School of Medicine. He is a diplomat for the American Board of Surgery and the American Board of Medical Management, a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of the American College of Physician Executives.