

James E. Donnelly, RN, BSN, MBA
Chief Nursing Officer and Chief Quality Officer

Jim Donnelly joined Hamot Medical Center in 1998 and currently serves as both the chief nursing officer and chief quality officer. In this capacity, he has full responsibilities for nursing services throughout Hamot Medical Center, as well as oversight of the Emergency Department.

As vice president of Patient Safety and Quality, Mr. Donnelly has made a significant impact on the organization by spearheading numerous process improvement teams and quality initiatives to elevate the level of care provided to Hamot's patients. These initiatives include the implementation of IV smart pump technology with the Infusion Team, the execution of the online incident report system with IM Data, the creation of metrics and goals for patient safety and quality, and the origination of nursing M&Ms.

Prior to joining Hamot, Mr. Donnelly was employed by Millard Fillmore Health Systems and served on the cardiovascular leadership team and was director of the clinical perfusion services. He also served as a clinical perfusionist at Saint Vincent Health Center.
